7 messages to turn comments into conversations

A clear first contact. One question at a time. A next step that makes sense for the person.

For shops, professionals and creators organizing Instagram replies.

Replace [brackets] with your real business details. Examples to adapt, with no sales guarantees.

START WITH INTENT

Deliver what they asked for.

A comment shows interest in content. Your first private reply should explain the context and make replying easy.

01 / Open the conversation

First private reply to a comment.

“Hi! I saw your comment about [topic]. Would you like me to send [resource or catalog] here? Reply YES to continue.”

Next: Add Wait for reply. A comment alone does not authorize a sequence of messages.

02 / Keep your promise

After the person actually replies in Direct.

“Here is the [resource or catalog] you requested: [link]. Let me know here if the link does not open.”

Next: Use a valid link. Deliver the content before making another offer.

HELP PEOPLE CHOOSE

One question. One relevant path.

Use reply buttons or quick replies for clear choices. Include a path for people who type something else.

03 / Find their priority

After delivering the requested content.

“What would you like to see first: CATALOG, DETAILS or BOOKING? Tap an option or type your question.”

Next: Connect Wait for reply to Multiple paths. Add a path for other answers.

04 / Explain with an example

On the path matching their choice.

“For [chosen goal], the next step is [specific action]. I will show you an image of [what they will see] to make it clearer.”

Next: Send your own accurate image in another node. A video file and a link card are separate sends.

CONTINUE WITH CONTEXT

Follow up without pressure.

A reminder is appropriate only after a real reply and while the 24-hour messaging window is still open. Waiting does not renew that window.

05 / Send one useful reminder

Only within 24 hours of the last received interaction.

“Just checking whether you could open [resource or catalog]. Reply here if you want help with [topic]. No problem if you would rather leave it for later.”

Next: Use one reminder. Do not send it without a real reply to the first comment Direct.

06 / Offer a next step

When the person shows interest.

“Want to explore [product, service or tool] in more detail? Find the information here: [link]. You can ask a question first.”

Next: An Open link button opens a page. It does not tell the flow that the person replied.

RESPECT THEIR PACE

Ending is part of the flow.

Do not leave a sequence open forever. Explain what happens next and let the person decide.

07 / Close respectfully

When they decline or the conversation is complete.

“All set. We will end here. Whenever you want to return, send [keyword] and choose what you would like to see.”

Next: End the path. Do not use this closing as a reason for more reminders.

01 → Open the conversation

02 → Keep your promise

03 → Find their priority

04 → Explain with an example

BEFORE PUBLISHING

Test it as your customer would.

Start with one goal. Validate the real experience before adding more paths.

□ Replace all [brackets] with real details and review your wording.

□ Match the post keyword to the configured trigger.

□ Open every link on a phone and test image and video files.

□ Every question needs a wait; every branch needs a destination.

□ Test positive, negative, unexpected and missing answers.

□ Never continue a comment sequence without a real Direct reply.

□ Check the 24-hour window before reminders or new sends.

□ Publish, test with another account and check execution logs.
